1 Read carefully the poem on page 3. The poet gives her response to being required to keep her distance from others during the global pandemic.

How does the poet present a strikingly unusual response to the pandemic?

To help you answer this question, you might consider:

- how the poet presents the isolation of her life before the pandemic
- her thoughts and feelings when she steps outside
- the reaction of the man in the street.

2 Read carefully the following extract from a novel in which the narrator describes his memories of Big Kit, who raised him when he was a child. He grew up as a slave on a sugarcane plantation called Faith.

How does the narrator convey the powerful impression Big Kit made on him?

To help you answer this question, you might consider:

- how he presents his first encounter with Big Kit
- the effect stories about her had on him
- the ways in which her stories opened out his imagination.

All my childhood I'd had no one; only Big Kit, as she was known in the cane.
