General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the first candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the last.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- There is no ceiling on achievement. All marks on the mark scheme should be used appropriately.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification may be limited.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, the team leader must be consulted.
- Crossed out work should be marked UNLESS the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Question number	Indicative Content	Mark
2 (g)	A02 = 3 A03 = 3 A04 = 3 Arguments why Candylicious should choose option 1. A02 • Candylicious will need to recruit staff for the shop. • Staff may live near the potential location of the shop. A03 • It will be easier to recruit staff, if there is a large pool of labour to choose from. • It means that staff do not have to travel far to work and will not arrive late. A04 • However, locating near to availability of labour means that it might not be in an area where there will be sufficient trade for Candylicious. • However, the trade might not be sufficient throughout the day, to employ staff full-time. Arguments why Candylicious should choose option 2. A02 • There will also be other sweet shops in the area. • There is an existing market for sweets. A03 • They may be tempted to purchase from Candylicious as the offers or sweets sold could be different. • As customers are visiting one sweet shop they may want a choice of different sweets for different occasions. A04 • However, if there are similar shops in the area it may be difficult to gain customers. As the customers may be loyal to the other business and not wish to purchase from Candylicious. • However, there may be insufficient customers to support a new sweet shop which means it may fail. Question Number	Indicative content	Mark
3 (f)	AO2 = 3 AO3 = 3 AO4 = 3 Arguments why CCT should choose option 1. AO2 - As a private limited company they can raise capital by selling shares. - Raising the capital themselves means they retain full control of the company. AO3 - This allows them to raise the additional capital necessary for expansion. CCT can therefore decide where the expansion will take place. AO4 - However, they can only sell shares to family and friends, which can limit the amount of capital they can raise. - However, CCT may become too large and this might damage its reputation leading to a decline in bookings. Arguments why CCT should choose option 2. AO2 - For each franchise that is opened CCT will receive a fee. CCT will provide training and advice to each franchisee. AO3 - Every time a franchise opens CCT can use the fees to expand by opening new stores themselves. - Each franchisee will maintain the same standards of service as CCT presently does. AO4 - However, the more franchises CCT agree the greater the workload to manage and monitor what they do. - However, this training can be expensive and time consuming and will increase as more franchises are set up.
